

WHO ARE WE?

Established in 1997, Cultural Heritage Practitioners Tasmania (CHPT) is a non-profit group, comprising of heritage practitioners from a range of disciplines, including:

- Architecture
- Archaeology
- Cultural landscapes
- History
- Interpretation
- Museums/archives
- Planning

Among our core activities are the identification of heritage issues within Tasmania and lobbying for the recognition and protection of Tasmania's historic cultural heritage. We are also an information network, sharing news and events which contribute to the knowledge and appreciation of Tasmania's historic cultural heritage.

More information about the group can be gained by reading the Articles of the Organisation (17kb PDF). If you would like to join the organisation then please submit a Membership Application (11Kb PDF).
